1. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND
INTRODUCTION

The IAB Audio Council is made up of industry experts across 16 different media and tech companies as well as industry body Commercial Radio Australia. The council released the first Audio Advertising State of the Nation back in 2017 with the aim to enrich all sectors of the digital audio space to ensure consumption, investment and the industry strive well into the future.

With this Wave 5 of State of the Nation we can see usage of digital audio platforms maturing and playing a more consistent role in media plans with media buyers embracing the branding potential different formats offer and their synergistic effects when bundled with other media opportunities.

The IAB is pleased to release wave 5 of this important industry research to help the audio market continue growth in 2021. The IAB continues to invest in research to provide the market with objective market wide data.

Despite the impact of COVID-19 on advertising budgets through 2020, usage of digital audio has continued to grow. Over the last 5 years, digital audio market has evolved from experimentation into a more strategically driven brand building approach.

I see great opportunity for the industry to continue to strive for optimising creative to suit different audio environments and in sharing case studies that prove the value of online audio and podcasts as powerful and effective advertising mediums.
This study was conducted by independent research company, Hoop Research Group.

Fieldwork was carried out in December 2020 and January 2021.

222 completed surveys.

Respondents are decision makers or influencers in the allocation of marketing spend & either placed or planned audio advertising campaigns.

Covers broadcast radio, streaming digital audio, DAB+ & podcasts.
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Audio is playing a more consistent role in media plans than it did 5 years ago. 69% of media agencies now have streaming digital audio advertising as a significant or regular part of their activity and 36% have podcast advertising as a significant or regular part of their activity (increasing from 33% last year).
  - 62% of media agencies have used ads within streaming services this year (up from 51% on last year) while 63% have used ads within live radio streams (up from 48% last year)
  - Usage of most podcast formats has increased amongst media agencies on last year, for example 65% are using recorded radio spots (up from 50% last year) and 53% using brand ads (up from 38% last year).
- 59% of media agencies intend to buy programmatically over the next 12 months, with intentions to buy multiple types of programmatic such as open exchanges, guaranteed and private marketplace deals increasing on last year.
- Growing in its importance, the predominant objective for streaming digital audio and podcast advertising is to increase brand awareness. 82% of media agencies are using streaming digital audio advertising for brand awareness (up from 75% last year) and 73% are using podcasts for brand awareness (up from 65% last year):
  - However only 34% of media agencies are using brand metrics to assess performance of streaming digital audio and podcast advertising
  - There is an opportunity to enhance branding with the use of branding assets in creative, only 38% of media agencies consistently use brand voice as an asset for audio branding.
- There is an opportunity to improve ad effectiveness for a third of media agencies are not tailoring creative to suit different audio environments when running campaigns across different broadcast and digital audio advertising options, this has not improved over the last year.
  - Greater campaign integration maybe be hampered by audio advertising continuing to be planned and bought in silos. Only half of media agencies report both planning and buying audio activities within the same team. 56% of agencies report planning and buying digital audio collaboratively with digital display activity, while 53% report planning and buying in combination with digital video activity.
  - Difficulty in creating compelling audio creative has decreased significantly as a barrier to larger share of advertising for both streaming digital audio and podcast advertising.
- According to media agencies, the lack of effectiveness evidence and measurement/standardized metrics remain the top opportunities for audio advertising to drive a larger share of advertising.
